South Carolina Public Railways Selects RMI's RailConnect Transportation Management System

RailConnect TMS to Provide Mobile Crew Reporting and Greater Automation for Shippers

Atlanta, GA – February 16, 2010 -- RMI, the largest independent provider of rail transportation software solutions to the transportation industry, today announced that the South Carolina Public Railways (SCPR) has decided to implement RMI's RailConnect® Transportation Management System (TMS).

In addition to TMS, SCPR plans to implement RMI's mCrew module for remote train crew reporting, and ShipperConnect® to provide its customers with real time visibility of their shipments.

"We feel that RMI's RailConnect TMS offers the most advanced transportation operating system in the industry for short line railroads," said SCPR President Jeff McWhorter. "By implementing the advanced features of RailConnect TMS such as mCrew and ShipperConnect, our train crews, our managers, and our customers will all have more timely information to support operating decisions," added McWhorter.

Kirk Knauff, RMI Vice President of Marketing and Services said "RMI is always excited to bring new technology to our short line customers. We have always been committed to bringing advanced technology to railroads that otherwise would not be able to afford it. SCPR is an excellent example of how short line railroads can provide "large railroad" services to their customers."
